

MAR. BEAUTY OF THE FACE

Lines Engraved by Discontent and Ill Temper Are Those That Are Disfiguring.

Have you ever stopped to think of the difference in the lines which come upon the face?

Who minds the pencillings of good nature and kindness? They enhance the charm of a face, because the mirror so plainly the soul be- it, and women who have these lines don't go to beauty culturists to have them removed; they scarcely notice they are there, nor do their friends think of them as anything but beauty marks.

It is the lines that come from discontent and ill-temper that are disfiguring. They crease the brow and drag down the mouth and encircle the eyes unpleasantly. They make a woman fly to specialists and indulge in quantities of highly recommended creams and lotions.

Undoubtedly these help a little, but the real fault lies deeper. It lies in the irritability, the discontent, the worrying over trifles, the gnawing jealousy and all those other characteristics, and until one struggles with and overcomes these the lines are bound to come and bound to be ugly and disfiguring.—Exchange.

WOMAN HATER TO THE LAST

Old Man, All His Long Life a Bachelor, Had Fact Inscribed on His Tombstone.

Carrying to his grave an antipathy for the fair sex which characterized his long life of single blessedness, William H. Hartley, a wealthy farmer, who died recently at the age of seventy-three, provided in his will, which was filed for probate, the erection of a monument upon which shall be in imperishable lettering his preference for bachelorhood.

After directing that a granite monument be placed over his grave, on which shall be carved an old bachelor standing on the brink of Jordan, preparing to cross the river, with a group of old maids on the other side, each beckoning to him, he requested that the following epitaph be engraved on the monument:

"To an independent, good-looking old bachelor, who in his younger days, preferred living in single life rather than get married and have a petticoat boss ruling over him."—Wed. (Ore.) Tribune.

OUTWIT LAZY OFFICIAL

An amusing story is being told in Paris of a member of the government who, while devoted to the active side of his departmental work, greatly dislikes the drudgery of the endless signing of official documents and has latterly taken care to be absent from the office whenever a pile of papers has come in for his signature. To cut off his retreat, the departmental officials have now instructed the attendants to hide the minister's hat as soon as he enters the building. When he seeks to escape, and rings for an attendant in order to ask what has become of his hat, the officials at a signal all troop in, each with arms full of documents, and the minister surrenders to the inevitable.

EXTREMELY UP TO DATE.

Mrs. Stanlee—Are they up to date?

Redding—Why, m' dear, she hired two musical cooks, so they could have cabaret in their dining-room.

ON THE CIRCUS TRAIN.

"The elephant is smashing up things in the car and we can't find his trainer."

"Then get the baggage master to check the elephant's trunk."

RAIN OF WHITE BUTTERFLIES.

White butterflies fell during a recent violent storm at Bernay, France. The streets were covered by the insects to a depth of two inches.

PAW KNOWS EVERYTHING.

Willie—Paw, how can you measure the flight of time?

Paw—Borrow $50 on a 30-day note, my son.

THE POINT.

"Did that fellow insult you by offering you a drink?"

"Yes, he did."

"But did you swallow the insult?"

MISUNDERSTANDING.

"That fellow is no judge of fowls."

"Why, he has the best chicken farm in the county."

The Fact Remains

No amount of misrepresentation by the peddlers of alum baking powders, no juggling with chemicals, or pretended analysis, or cooked-up certificates, or falsehoods of any kind, can change the fact that

Royal Baking Powder has been found by the official examinations to be of the highest leavening efficiency, free from alum, and of absolute purity and wholesomeness.

Royal Baking Powder is indispensable for making finest and most economical food.

WORTHY OF PATRONAGE

A Laugh For Every Minute At Holland's Opera House.

UNDER AUSPICES OF K. P.

Home Talent To Give "Fun On The Podunk Limited."

A great treat is in store for the people at the Opera House next Friday night, November 14.

Miss Elizabeth N. Morton has been engaged to manage the presentation of a splendid farce or comedy, it doesn't matter which, and is now in the city. She has already cast most of the parts and some of the home talent who have consented to appear are memorizing their lines.

The play is to be given under the auspices of Evergreen Lodge, Knights of Pythias. The members of the order are enthusiastically working to make the affair a big success, as they do with everything they take hold of. They are out selling tickets in advance and are pleased with the liberality of our people, who are really desirous of seeing home talent on the stage, something they have not had the opportunity of enjoying for quite a while.

Though Miss Morton has had considerable experience in staging "Fun On The Podunk Limited" at other places, her work here will not be so difficult as elsewhere, as Miss Corrine Parrent has consented to lend her assistance in the presentation. This of itself is sufficient guaranty that the play will be perfectly put on.

Those who want to reserve seats can do so at the Anderson-Fowler Drug Co., where tickets are already on sale, 50 cents each, with no extra charge for reserved seats.

RACE HORSES

Bought by F. G. Petre Who Will See that They "Come Back."

Mr. F. G. Petre has bought three race horses at bargain prices and is wintering them at the fair grounds. They are somewhat out of condition but have been prize winners and good care will bring them around all right. L. O. Allen also bought one horse from the same lot.

Have You Got Yours.

About 400 invitations to the Wilson-Sayre wedding were sent out Wednesday, 250 of them being directed to residents of Washington.

Blood Is Shed.

Seven strikethrowers and two policemen were injured at Indianapolis when an attempt was made to resume street car service.

Youngest Member.

Perhaps the youngest member of the Kentucky Legislature will be the Representative from Bourbon county, R. B. Hutchcraft, Jr., of Paris. Mr. Hutchcraft is twenty-six years old. He is a graduate of the Law Department of Transylvania University, of Lexington, and also of the Law School of Harvard University. His first activity in politics was noted when he took the stump in the campaign for Governor of Massachusetts, making many speeches for Gov. Foss.

Mrs. E. P. Fears, who visited the family of Dr. H. P. Randle in St. Louis, has returned home.

NEIGHBORING COUNTIES

Will Be Invited To Attend Good Roads Meeting.

The committee having in charge all arrangements for the five good roads meetings and barbecues to be given in the county and city, beginning December 2nd, have made rapid progress and will invite the people of the neighboring counties to attend any and all the meetings. George E. Gary, the chairman of the committee, and who presented the suggestions of the H. B. M. A. to the Fiscal Court, says that the committee intends to give the widest publicity possible and will arrange for a representative of the Courier-Journal to be in the county during the five days and make full reports of all the meetings for that paper. Mr. Gary is accused of having made the best speech of his life, to the court but he says he didn't know he was making a speech but was merely giving a plain practical, common sense talk. That is what constitutes a good talk, Mr. Gary, though you may not know it.

Woman Badly Burned.

Mrs. Robt. Hardin was severely burned at the home of her father, M. B. Henderson, a few days ago. She caught her clothing on fire from an open grate and was badly burned from her waist down before the flames could be put out.

Meeting at Fairview

A revival meeting is in progress at Bethel Baptist Church at Fairview, the pastor, Rev. Mr. Hutchinson, preaching morning and evening.
